I just want to assist myself with just about everything Mr. Hansen said. I am not sure about the half past stuff. But most of what he said I think I am in agreement with. I think this is a great day because public lands discussions in Utah are so often characterized by people just sort of throwing gre-nades at each other. Today we have an example where the State School Trust Land Administration did it the right way. They reached out. They talked with all the relevant parties. They had a collaborative process. It just goes to show that when we work to-gether we can actually come up with a common sense solution. I really applaud them on that effort to work in a collaborative way. I hope that this is a signal of things to come in terms of how we address a lot of public lands issues in Utah. I hope the State School Trust Land Administration continues to move forward in trying to consolidate this checkerboard pattern that we all know makes no sense. For the sake of the school kids and for the sake of better land management, we ought to move forward on this consolidation throughout our State. So, I commend them. I think that is really the biggest story out of this legislation, their good work. I commend the Chairman for introducing...
